The Christine Yepesson Suicide.

The San Francisco Report gives full particulars of the suicide of Miss Yepesson, the young girl who used to work for Mrs. Hatch in this city.

When found she lay on the bed dressed in her best clothes—a pale blue sateen dress, trimmed with lace. Her arms were folded across her breast, and the photographs of her father and mother were firmly clasped in her right hand. Her trunk was against the door, and two valises were on top of it. Two letters in Swedish—one addressed to her brother—were on the bureau by the side of two purses—one a delicate violet-tinted velvet, the other a morocco. In the former were $45.25 and in the latter $6.85. Also a Southern Pacific baggage receipt, which bore date of July 25th, and showed that some one had paid three days' storage on a trunk marked "C. B., 44,376."

Both gas cocks were turned fully on, the windows were all securely barred and paper had been placed in the crevices, so there is no doubt that it is a carefully planned suicide. The Coroner has not yet had the letters translated, but they were to be translated in time for the inquest Monday afternoon.

About two dollars more will make $25, which sum the APPEAL hopes to send below by the end of the week.

Judge Hawley in the United States Circuit Court rendered his decision Monday in the case of Merrill against Marker, involving the title to the Eagle Lake property in Lassen county. In his opinion the court decided that Marker's deed to one-half of the property was valid and that the mortgage of over twelve thousand dollars held by him against Merrill's one-half was also valid, and that there was "due Marker for moneys invested upon the whole property over thirty-four thousand dollars.

Chicago has the first train of steel cars on exhibition. It is claimed that they cost no more than wooden ones. Of course they would not burn in case of collision, nor would they splinter so badly as wooden cars. There is room for improvements in details of railway transportation. A great deal of money has been spent in sumptuous paring, painting and upholstery, which might better have been devoted to securing greater safety.

The U. S. District Attorney in San Francisco, if half the reports about him are true, is one of the biggest rascals recently discovered on the slope.

Of late years the office of U. S. District Attorney has been a fat one for those holding it. It is full of what is known as "funny work," and Nevada is no exception to the rule.

The commission merchants of San Francisco have formed a combine on potatoes, and have agreed they will throw their stocks into the bay unless they can get a certain price for them.—Times Review.

If the potatoes down there are anything like they send up here the Bay is the best place for them. Oliver Roberts has lately acquired a taste for pinenuts and wears one for a scarf pin.

We All Rise.

Without doubt some of the brightest papers on the Pacific Coast are printed in Nevada. While most of them are classed as "country journals" and "have-seed organs," there is a crisp individuality and originality about them that is refreshing. They have a way of speaking out in meeting that is sometimes startling, but when they get through, one feels compensated for having given them his attention, for they prove that they had something to say.

The above is from Drury's News. Of course every editor in Nevada will rise up with a low bow and say "Thank you."

Same as the Frenchmen did in the park. A lady walking out saw a young girl with a pretty baby being admired by three Frenchmen. "What a handsome child," said the lady, at which the three Frenchmen rose simultaneously and made a low bow of acknowledgment.

Brandishing Their Eyes.

Bierce has the following about the females who work their eyes in San Francisco:

What I have to say is that the wives and daughters of San Francisco (with exceptions) are themselves overmuch addicted to the brandishing of eyes. The looks are not insulting, so far as I have observed; of such small proportion as have fallen to my share I have never thought it worth while to complain to the police; but it is true that in San Francisco more than in any other city in the world that I know about, the female eye is too enterprising and abundant for strict preservation of the peace.

Hello Mister, can you tell me where I can get a good bath?
